

AUCKLAND OFFICE BY CHESHIRE ARCHITECTS.

Everyone dreams of being in an office that is not grey-on-grey, all cubicles and carpet tiles, which is where our favourite fitout steps to the fore.

This upmarket interior by Cheshire Architects, with its timber-lined walls and abundant brass fittings, has a sense of nostalgia and visiting Daddy at his office. The slick and carefully thought out interior has a faceted honeycomb ceiling, bringing an element of playfulness and light, and is the perfect accompaniment to the timber work. This glamour extends to the bathrooms, with their delicate placement of black-and-white tiles and white ceramic basins.

There is a hush to this aesthetic. Perhaps, behind one of those doors someone might be furiously tapping away at a typewriter or even sitting in a leather armchair with a glass of whiskey in hand. KATE ROGAN
